What information can you learn from looking at this website? What information astounded you?

Think about some of the problems that may arise by having so many people in one location. Think about some of the benefits. Pick the most interesting or surprising fact on this website and do some research.

- What are the first items or numbers that surprise you?
- Why do you think this information is so surprising?
- Is the ever-growing population a good thing or a bad thing?

Prepare an argument either for or against an increasingly growing population. Feel free to consider your ideas within the scope of the entire world, or simply one state.

List five pieces of evidence that support your position. Additionally, list two strong pieces of evidence that support an opponent's position.

Write two paragraphs (5-7 sentences each) discussing your opinion supporting or opposing an increasingly growing population. Ensure that you use the pieces of evidence you presented earlier to strengthen your argument.

To review - your final product should be seven facts along with two paragraphs.
